EFFORTS TO REDUCE RACIAL, ETHNIC, AND ECONOMIC ISOLATION

Below is the description submitted by this school of how it provides educational opportunities for its students to interact with students and teachers from diverse racial, ethnic, and economic backgrounds.

Because of the limited diversity in our school and community population, Wilton strives to reduce racial, ethnic, and economic isolation through programming in the academic, guidance, and arts areas as well as co-curricular and service options. At the early elementary level, classroom instruction aims to extend the background of students. The all-school character education program focuses on diversity topics. In addition, special art and music presentations featuring different countries are supported by classroom instruction in the culture and history of various regions. Fourth grade students participate in the Links Program, an interdistrict program that brings together students from several towns to study science topics. The developmental guidance program seeks to enhance student skills in awareness and understanding of differences. Team projects focus on increasing cultural understanding through the arts and world languages. Elementary school service projects reach across communities locally and internationally. Our middle school continues its goal to reduce racial, ethnic, and socio-economic isolation. Continually evolving interdisciplinary team projects now include the World Change Agents, Chinese New Year, Tolerance of Differences, and Biomes of the World and are designed to help raise students' awareness and understanding of diversity issues and differing cultures. Field trips are scheduled that support these goals. In addition, assembly speakers provide cultural and historical presentations to students. Service projects at the local, national, and international level heighten student awareness and concern about socio-economic differences. The school also designs a world language week and participates in an annual International Art Exchange.

Programs at the high school provide students with a range of opportunities to reduce racial, ethnic, and socio-economic isolation. Eight students from the A Better Chance (ABC) program attend the high school. This program provides inner-city students with the opportunity to live in the Wilton community and attend Wilton High School. Curricular programs include area studies courses in the Middle East, Russia, and Africa, world language courses, and readings and discussion of diversity issues in literature and social studies classes. Club programs have expanded to include Amnesty International, the World Language Club, Model UN, Gay-Straight Alliance, hosting international student groups, world language week and fine arts week. Student participation remains high in service projects such as Junior Project Friendship that involve expanding borders and increasing understanding. In addition, students and staff attend presentations and workshops on diversity issues.

EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF RESOURCES AMONG DISTRICT SCHOOLS

Below is the description submitted by this district of how it allocates resources to insure equity and address needs.

Increases in student enrollment at certain grade levels, Board of Education priorities, unfunded or under funded federal and state mandates such as IDEA and NCLB, more severe special education needs, higher employee medical insurance costs, transportation and energy costs coupled with the need to maintain reasonable class sizes are the main influences on resource allocation. Over the past 32 years our per-pupil costs have dropped from 6th in the State to 28th.

The number of certified staff including classroom teachers, library/media specialists, and counselors is based on school enrollment, Board policy regarding class size, and school and district program priorities. Allocations for supplies and equipment are based on student enrollment as well as revisions and additions to program texts and materials. Special education staffing is allocated based on specific student needs defined through the IEP process, the number of students served, and compliance with IDEA. Non-certified staffing levels are determined in order to support the programs. A small percentage of the budget also is allocated to staff development. The district has a long- range technology plan including infrastructure, support, hardware, and software which is assessed annually. The district also has long-range plans for facilities maintenance, improvements, and renovations. The district's administrators are deployed to the schools and the Central Office.

Accommodations for a student’s disability may be made to allow him or her to participate in testing. Students whose disabilities prevent them from taking the test even with accommodations are assessed by means of a list of skills aligned to the same content and grade level standards as the CMT and CAPT.

Federal law requires that students with disabilities be educated with their non-disabled peers as much as is appropriate. Placement in separate educational facilities tends to reduce the chances of students with disabilities interacting with non-disabled peers, and of receiving the same education.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IMPROVEMENT PLANS AND ACTIVITIES

The following narrative was submitted by this district.

In keeping with our purpose to set high standards for educational excellence, Wilton students have demonstrated achievement in many areas. Standardized test score results continue to be strong. CMT 2008 Grades 4 – 8 mastery results in reading, math, and writing ranged from 75 – 91%. At the high school level, CAPT 2008 scores were strong with math and science scores in the top half of our DRG. Reading is a target area for growth K-12. Early literacy initiatives include uninterrupted instructional blocks for literacy instruction, early intervention strategies, and increased instruction in word study skills. At the secondary level, literacy skills across the content areas and non-fiction reading have areas of emphasis. At the high school, 2008 SAT score averages were 580 Reading, 597 Math, and 587 Writing. In the 2008 National Merit Scholarship competition, four students were finalists, one was a semifinalist, and sixteen were recognized as commended students. Post-secondary plans include 95% of students attending two- or four-year colleges and 5% join the military or seek employment.

Wilton boasts an excellent fine and performing arts program. All students participate in K-8 art and music instruction. Band, choir, and orchestra programs begin in grades 3 – 5. At the high school, approximately 30% of students participate in the music program and 30% enroll in an art course. The high school theater program includes courses and numerous productions. Wilton also is proud of its extensive sports and extracurricular programs. In grades 3 – 12, more than 75 clubs and intramurals are offered. At the high school, approximately 60 % of students participate in one or more sports. Finally, a personalized, nurturing environment for all students is a district priority. In addition to favorable student/counselor ratios at the secondary level, an early elementary guidance program was recently implemented as well as a mentor program for freshmen and sophomores at the high school.
