EFFORTS TO REDUCE RACIAL, ETHNIC, AND ECONOMIC ISOLATION

Below is the description submitted by this school of how it provides educational opportunities for its students to interact with students and teachers from diverse racial, ethnic, and economic backgrounds.

The Gilbert School is a small, comprehensive, independent regional high school located in northwestern Connecticut. It is one of only three endowed and incorporated academies in the state of Connecticut and is accredited by NEASC (New England Association of Schools and Colleges). The Gilbert School is the designated high school for the towns of Hartland and Winchester and has a population of just under 350 students. Despite its geographical isolation, the school endeavors to provide a rich environment to compliment and support the school's cultural and economic diversity. Staff and students embrace diversity through the curriculum during the school day and outside the classroom in a variety of activities throughout the year. The community continues to increase in ethnic diversity thus delivering to The Gilbert School a true microcosm of the world and provides, in this rural setting, an opportunity for exposure and interaction with the many types of diversity they will encounter in their lives as they move on from high school. The athletic and extracurricular programs welcome and attract students from all ethnic, social, cultural and economic backgrounds. The Student Council is open for anyone who wants to join (other than officers, no elections are held) and initiates many activities and awareness projects for the student body. Coaches and staff create a welcoming environment for all students and capitalize on every individual's contribution to the group. Students have many opportunities to participate in local, regional, state, national and international field trips and competitions that incorporate the knowledge gained in the classroom in a very real way. The curriculum includes the study of all people and cultures through their writing, reading and projects. Several departments have developed commendable and unique programs to provide world experiences to students that would otherwise likely not be given these opportunities. More and more communication is translated into Spanish for our ever-increasing Latino population. Efforts to outreach to this community continue on many fronts through our ELL program.

Accommodations for a student's disability may be made to allow him or her to participate in testing. Students whose disabilities prevent them from taking the test even with accommodations are assessed by means of a list of skills aligned to the same content and grade level standards as the CMT and CAPT.

Federal law requires that students with disabilities be educated with their non-disabled peers as much as is appropriate. Placement in separate educational facilities tends to reduce the chances of students with disabilities interacting with non-disabled peers, and of receiving the same education.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IMPROVEMENT PLANS AND ACTIVITIES

The following narrative was submitted by this district.

Efforts to incorporate more CAPT-like activities over the past few years and the seriousness of purpose with which our teachers and students tend to their education is evident in all that they do. In addition, all ninth grade students are administered a practice CAPT using CAPT-released questions. During the last two years the results of newly-developed curriculum units has started to show in improved lesson development, more student-centered instruction, common assessments and improved student learning. Staff was appreciative of the professional time dedicated to writing curriculum in this collaborative manner and in the UBD (Understanding by Design) format. Department goals and teacher goals are aligned to the school goals. Formative assessments are used to periodically review student performance and instructional strategies are adjusted when needed. There has been more effort to design common planning time with the professional staff. All sophomores and juniors were administered the PSAT. A long-range strategic plan, Gilbert 2020, was recently adopted. The twenty-member committee was represented by a wide range of people consisting of students, faculty, administration, board members, parents and committed local citizens. Goals and objectives were designed and implemented and focused on 21st Century Skills, instruction, communication and data-driven decision making.
