EFFORTS TO REDUCE RACIAL, ETHNIC AND ECONOMIC ISOLATION

Below is the description submitted by this school of how it provides educational opportunities for its students to interact with students and teachers from diverse racial, ethnic, and economic backgrounds.

Brooklyn is a small town with very little racial diversity. However, its economic diversity is evidenced by the increasing percentage of students eligible for free/reduced price meals. Hence, the issues of economic isolation and fragmented families are of ongoing concern to members of our staff. At the elementary level, we work to address the limitations in the lives of many of our students through a variety of curricular projects to provide opportunities for students to experience other cultures. In addition, students have a number of field trips annually to enrich and broaden their perspective. At the middle school level, the many cultural enrichment activities throughout the year in language arts, social studies and science help to broaden students' understanding of the differences, as well as the activities well beyond Connecticut. The faculty has incorporated diversity into their instructional activities and our field trip programs provide opportunities for students to interact with students from other schools. Our technological resources and extensive use of the Internet have helped our students. These activities also help students develop an appreciation of the traditions of other cultures. Our secondary students are tuitioned to a number of high schools in eastern Connecticut under the Board's Freedom of Choice and thus have access to a broad range of programs/activities. Brooklyn's high school students also become members of student bodies with much more diversity than is possible in Brooklyn. Within the scope of their experience in our designated high schools, our secondary students have the opportunity to learn about and interact with members of different ethnic, racial and economic backgrounds and cultures.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE

Connecticut Academic Performance Test, Third Generation, % Meeting State Goal. The CAPT is administered to Grade 10 students. The Goal level is more demanding than the state Proficient level, but not as high as the Advanced level, reported in the No Child Left Behind Report Cards. The following results reflect the performance of students with scorable tests who were enrolled in the school at the time of testing, regardless of the length of time they were enrolled in the school. Results for fewer than 20 students are not presented.

DISTRICT EXPENDITURES AND REVENUES, 2011-12

Expenditures may be supported by local tax revenues, state grants, federal grants, municipal in-kind services, tuition and other sources. DRG and state figures will not be comparable to the district if the school district does not teach both elementary and secondary students.

EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF RESOURCES AMONG DISTRICT SCHOOLS

Below is the description submitted by this district of how it allocates resources to insure equity and address needs.

The Board of Education's policy on the allocation of district resources provides the framework for both expenditures and revenues and translates into financial terms the priorities and educational needs of the district. The Board expects the superintendent to work closely with building level administrators in studying the needs of the school and recommendations are consistent with those needs. Building administrators are expected to confer with their grade level teams to obtain information on needs and priorities. The Board formulates the annual budget through a committee structure and solicits comments and recommendations from parents and community members. Resources are allocated in an equitable manner in an attempt to meet the needs of all students. Limited budget dollars are targeted toward priorities which are established by the Board of Education and the administration. Programmatic issues such as staff/student ratios and class size are reviewed annually or more frequently, if necessary. With the economic pressure on our budget process this year, our goal for 2013-2014 is to maintain our current programs and staff. However, at present, we are predicting a deficit in this year's budget of over $200,000 because of our increasing costs for special education services.

STATE ASSESSMENTS

Percent of Students with Disabilities Meeting State Goal. The Goal level is more demanding than the Proficient level, but not as high as the Advanced level, reported in the No Child Left Behind Report Cards. These results are for students attending district schools who participated in the standard assessment with or without accommodations for their disabilities. Results for fewer than 20 students are not presented.

- Connecticut Mastery Test (CMT), Fourth Generation. The CMT reading, writing and mathematics tests are administered to students in Grades 3 through 8, and the CMT science test to students in Grades 5 and 8.
- Connecticut Academic Performance Test (CAPT), Third Generation. The CAPT is administered to Grade 10 students.

Accommodations for a student's disability may be made to allow him or her to participate in testing. Students whose disabilities prevent them from taking the test even with accommodations are assessed by means of a list of skills aligned to the same content and grade level standards as the CMT and CAPT.

Federal law requires that students with disabilities be educated with their non-disabled peers as much as is appropriate. Placement in separate educational facilities tends to reduce the chances of students with disabilities interacting with non-disabled peers, and of receiving the same education.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IMPROVEMENT PLANS AND ACTIVITIES

The following narrative was submitted by this district.

Consistent with schools across the state, Brooklyn is transitioning to the Common Core State Standards with the hope that higher and clearer standards will progressively align with the needs of our students to be better prepared for their future. With the Smarter Balance assessments in math and language arts as well as the Connecticut Mastery test in science and staff training in the use of these assessment choices, we will have the data necessary to calculate a school performance index. We have increased the planning time for academic teams in order to implement the new standards and we anticipate that this will allow for the analysis of test data and the planning of instructional activities with particular attention to the individual needs of each student. In the areas of special education, our focus has been on inclusion of all special needs students in the regular classroom program thus increasing the time with non-disabled peers. This has been accomplished by an increase in the use of trained paraprofessionals working with individuals or small groups of students in the regular classroom under the supervision of the classroom teacher and the special education instructor. With new facilities in our Early Childhood Center, we are providing opportunities for 200 Pre-K and Kindergarten students to participate in a comprehensive early learning experience. This program, which includes a developmentally based curriculum, is available without cost to all age appropriate children in Brooklyn and parents are eager to enroll their children.
